Beame wins primary

NEW YORK - Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, keeping his grasp on the moderate and middle-class vote, defeated Rep. Herman Badillo by a nearly 2-1 margin in a primary runoff Tuesday night and won the Democratic nomination for mayor. In the Fall election, Beame will face three rivals — State Sen. John Marchi, the Republican candidate; Rep. Mario Biaggi, the Conservative Party candidate; and Albert H. Blumenthal, the Liberal Party candidate. Mayor John Lindsay is not running for

U.S. jets bomb troops

PHNOM PENH - U.S. jets pounded Communist troops as they closed in on an important bridge and road junction nine miles south of Phnom Penh, Cambodia. Field reports said government troops continued to hold the bridge. In nearby South Vietnam, heavy fighting erupted anew in the Mekong Delta and intensified all across the country. South Vietnam had experienced nearly a week of low-level activity. The "peacekeeping commissions" in South Vietnam did nothing to stop the lastest eruption of fighting.

Ex-POWs face mutiny charge

WASHINGTON - Two high-ranking POWs were charged with aiding the enemy and committing mutiny, the Navy said. The charges against Marine Lt. Col. Edison W. Miller and Navy Capt. Walter E. Wilber, both veteran fighter pilots who held antiwar views while in a North Vietnamese prison, were filed by Rear Adm. James B. Stockdale. While additional details weren't made public, Pentagon sources described the accusations as "very detailed" and "very serious."

U.S. loses whale fight

LONDON - The United States lost a "long and hard and relatively bitter" battle Tuesday to prevent the extinction of whales by banning all killing of the mammals. A majority of the 14-nation International Whaling Commission cast ballots in favor of the U.S. proposal, but the 8-5 vote with one abstention fell short of the three-quarters majority needed for the resolution to be adopted.

State can buy rail lines

HARRISBURG - The House Tuesday passed a bill, supposedly a flood relief measure, that gives the state broad powers to take over unprofitable rail lines. The measure passed, 154 to 20, without debate and was sent to Gov. Milton J. Shapp for his approval. Aide Norval Reece said Shapp would sign the measure quickly so the state could meet a deadline today for getting federal aid. The bill gives the state power to buy rail lines damaged or destroyed by "natural disasters" in 1972. It also lets the state purchase track the railroads want to abandon.

off funds for the bombing of Cambodia cleared Congress and was sent to President Nixon Tuesday as the House solidly rejected lastditch efforts to give the administration more time in Indochina.

The measure, barring the use of appropriated funds for U.S. military action "in, over or from off the shores of" Cambodia or Laos, won final approval in the Senate 81 to 11 and was dispatched to the White

Senate leaders said they had assurances Nixon would decide this week whether to sign or veto it, eliminating the chance of a pocket veto while Congress is in a week's recess for Independence Day

Minutes after the Senate's action, the House voted 232 to 181 to write the same provision into a "veto proof" resolution to provide funds for all federal agencies when the new fiscal year begins July 1. Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, delivered an emotionally charged speech urging his colleagues not to "slap him (the President) in the face in the presence of the entire world." But Mahon was defeated 232 to 131 on an amendment to delay until Sept. 1 the effective date for cutting off funds. The continuing resolution now goes to the Senate, which is expected to eagerly embrace the antiwar restriction.

Unlike the supplemental appropriation that was sent to Nixon Tuesday, the resolution will be difficult for Nixon to veto. The reason is that all funds for the current budget year expire this Saturday and Congress has not agencies for the new fiscal year that begins

The continuing resolution is a device to permit the government to stay in business after July 1 until regular appropriations bills are enacted, permitting agencies to spend at current rates.

'The resolution is virtually veto proof, Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., argued.

The antiwar amendment written into both the supplemental bill and the funds resolution was sponsored by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo. It declares:

'None of the funds herein appropriated under this act or heretofore appropriated under any other act may be expended to support directly or indirectly combat activities in, over or from the shores of Cambodia or in or over Laos by United States forces.'

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., one of the few Senate Republicans who stuck with the administration on the vote, predicted Nixon would sign the measure.

"I'm inclined to think it will not be (vetoed) but I don't know," Tower said.

Nixon, by pocket vetoing the measure while the Senate is in recess, could avoid an effort to override him. But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Chairman John L. McClellan of the Senate Appropriations Committee both said they had been assured Nixon would act before the end of this week.

For the House, once a bastion of support for Nixon's war policies, it was the second straight day of no confidence votes.

Mahon, who had been defeated in a 204-204 tie vote Monday on his amendment to permit bombing until Sept. 1, tried to reverse the yet passed any appropriations for federal decision with a speech appealing to patriotism.

Dean says 2 Nixon lied

W. Dean III testified Tuesday that President Nixon has known about the Watergate cover-up scheme for nine months and did not tell the truth this spring in disavowing any involvement in the scandal.

The charges were the most serious yet in the former White House counsel's two full days of testimony before the Senate Watergate committee and a nationwide television audience.

'The truth will be out some day," Dean said as he neared 12 hours at the witness table. He will continue testifying today.

Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., led Dean step by step through Nixon's words at press conferences and in statements in March, April and May.

Montoya quoted Nixon's April 17 statement that "I condemn any attempts to cover up this case, no matter who is involved," and then asked Dean, "Do you think he was telling the truth?'

Dean paused, then said, "No,

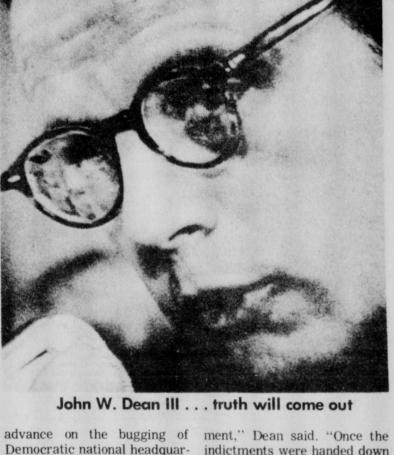

Dean said he had serious reservations after the first of this year that a cover-up could not last, but that he repeatedly failed in getting his message through to the President.

He said that after he changed his mind about his own role, he was cut off from the rest of the White House staff. Dean said that when Nixon went to Camp counsel Leonard Garment.

Nixon remains silent over charges leveled by Dean

(UPI) - President Nixon followed a strategy of silence Tuesday as former White House Counsel John W. Dean III accused him of taking part in a cover-up of the Watergate scandal.

For the second consecutive day, reporters at Nixon's oceanside home were told that he was not watching any of Dean's televised testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee in Washington and that the President was proceeding with business as normal.

Ronald L. Ziegler was unavailable for questioning by reporters, but his deputy, Gerald L. knowledge of the Watergate Warren, described the President's mood as "very good."

Asked about Dean's charges that he thought the President knew about and took part in attempts to cover up the bugging scandal and of bribery attempts by convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr., Warren referred reporters to Nixon's May 22 statement

The White House spokesman

Presidential Press Secretary said he thought Nixon was "very clear" in that statement, in which he denied any plans or participation in a cover-up or attempts to buy the silence of the defendants. "We stand behind that statement and I am not going to make a comment while these hearings are underway," Warren said

Warren said summaries of Dean's testimony were being prepared by the White House in Washington and sent here for the President's reading. He said those summaries were the only source of information for Nixon, claiming the President had not even watched the evening news on television. He said Nixon spent most of his time conferring privately with Henry A. Kissinger, his foreign policy adviser, in preparation for visits later this week by European diplomats. The President planned to meet Friday with French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert to see visiting NATO ambassadors on Saturday as a folow-up to his eight-day summit meeting with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev. Warren said that as far as he knew, Nixon had not been in touch with Leonard Garment or Fred Buzhardt, the two White House aides assigned to deal with the Watergate affairs, or with former White House aides John D. Ehrlichman and H. R.

Haldeman. Haldeman and Ehrlichman have been implicated by Dean as central figures in the Watergate cover-up, but have maintained close relations with Nixon since resigning.

Groceries for typical family reach new high

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The typical American family paid for its food at a record high annual rate of $1,493 in May, 0.9 per cent more than in April, Agriculture span Department figures showed Tuesday.

But the increase in the annual cost of the food basket compared to 1.6 per cent in April, and was the smallest since inflation began its latest big surge five months ago.

A rise of 1.2 per cent in charges by middlemen contributed most to the retail

The report said retail prices for beef held steady in May at a record high average of $1.36 a pound for choice cuts. Grocery prices for pork eased down 0.3 per cent to a bit over $1.02 a pound.

For beef and pork, returns to both the farmer and the supermarket rose, but packers reduced their margins to more than offset those increases.

The figures reflect the amount spent for food for the hypothetical average household of 3.2 persons, projected over a year-long

Farmers in May got 1.5 per cent, or 92.7 cents a pound, more for the 2.28 pounds of live cattle needed to produce one pound of retail beef. Supermarket margins on beef increased 1.9 per cent to 37 cents a pound, but meat packers cut their margins 25 per cent to 6.3 cents a pound.

The $1,493 annual-rate cost of the food basket in May was $13 above that of April, $155 higher than in December, and $198 above the rate in May, 1972.

Prior to the 1.6 per cent gain in average retail costs in April, the level went up 3.5 per cent in March, 2.5 per cent in February and 2.7 per cent in January.

Retail prices for meat were under federal control during May.

Democratic leader wants Phase IV now

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd urged President Nixon Tuesday to institute Phase IV economic controls as soon as possible to avoid food shortages.

Byrd said thousands of baby chickens have been destroyed because it is unprofitable to raise them, and said this was indicative of an apparent impasse in the administration's attempt to deal with inflation.

"It is little short of ludicrous that we have allowed a situation to be created in our country in which food producers -with demand at its peak -are finding it unprofitable to produce food," Byrd, D-W.Va., said in a Senate speech.

He added: "We simply cannot afford to allow a policy of scarcity to take the place of a policy for controlling inflation. "Unless action to implement Phase IV is taken promptly, American housewives may find not only high prices and shortages, but also that some important foods have disappeared from stores." Sen. William Brock, R-Tenn., said in a statement "as far as I'm concerned, I'd like to get rid of the freeze today and go on to Phase IV. "The longer we delay, given the nature of controls today, the more we damage our long range supply of foodstuffs, and the higher consumer prices will go, Brock said.

Senate increases license fees to pay road repairs

HARRISBURG (UPI) - The Senate settled a dispute over the funding of highway repair projects Tuesday, passing a bill increasing a number of license fees to create $32 million in extra revenue.

The Shapp Administration and House Republicans had been at odds for months over how to finance about $104 million in "pothole repair" projects for the state's highway system.

In the House, a $615 million Motor License Fund appropriation for fiscal 1973 was approved, 171-0. The figure is $2.3 million less than last year.

The fund is used to help finance State Police operations and highway construction. The measure now goes to Gov. Milton J. Shapp for his signature.

The license increase measure requires House action before it becomes law. It is considered a compromise that will guarantee completion of most of the projects.

The Shapp Administration had pressed for a short term bond issue to finance the "pothole repair" project. Republicans wanted to increase the state gasoline tax

The new crimes code sets sentences of up to 60 days for minor possession charges, while the old laws allowed sentences of up to five years.

Sen. Freeman Hankins, D-Philadelphia, who pressed for revival of the bill after its defeat last month, said about 100 prisoners would have their sentences shortened.

The bill requires House approval before Gov. Shapp

The Senate also passed 34-13 a bill amending the Crimes Code to make killing, maiming or poisoning of animals a misdemeanor. Other acts of cruelty to animals would be summary offenses.

Another Senate-passed measure would set up restricted

White House kept list of enemies, Dean reveals

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The White House kept an up-to-date list of its "enemies" and WASHINGTON (UPI) - Atsometimes used government agencies such as the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service to collect embarrassing information to use against them, John W. Dean III testified

The fired White House counsel, testifying for the second day before the Senate Watergate committee, indicated that at least two newsmen were among the targets of White House-ordered government snooping.

Under close questioning by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., Dean also indicated that at least portions of a secret 1970 plan for expanded domestic spying -which President Nixon has said he approved and then rejected five days later — did go into operation.

The plan called for such tactics as burglary, wiretapping and intercepting mail. Though Nixon has said these activities were scrubbed when the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover objected to the strategy. Dean testified that the administrative structure designed to oversee the operation did go into effect.

"I think it's a very important part of the story to be told and I think it's been made clear here this afternoon that ... the first step was taken," Weicker said.

"Though that unit did not involve illegal activities, certainly the security arms of the United States government were utilized for purposes not intended.

Agreeing, Dean replied:

"I do know that other agencies were involved in seeking embarrassing political information on individuals considered to be political enemies of the White House as the means to attack enemies of the White House.

"In addition, the White House maintained what was called an 'enemy list' that was continually being updated.

"I'm not going to ask who was on that list," cracked Weicker, who has been less than popular with the administration, as spectators in the hearing room erupted in laughter. Dean, who had been somber throughout his testimony, flashed a grin.

He agreed to go back to the White House and try to find a copy of the list in his Dean recalled how CBS correspondent Daniel Schorr, also unpopular at the White House, had been subjected to an FBI investigation. He said the inquiry had been ordered by top presidential aide H. R. Haldeman, who was "traveling with the president" at the time.

reached in budget

HARRISBURG (UPI) - The Conference Committee to work out a state budget reported Tuesday it had achieved little success in ironing out a $168 million gap between Democrat and Republican spending plans.

"What we are doing is going over all three versions of the budget line by line," said Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Henry J. Cianfrani, D-Philadelphia. "There has got to be a beginning. There has got to be a working place.'

In its first news conference over six working sessions, Cianfrani said the committee had not decided which version of the budget it will use.

The fiscal year ends at midnight Saturday. Cianfrani and Rep. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, House Appropriations chairman, said the committee is optimistic a budget can be resolved.

The six members are now looking at Gov. Milton J. Shapp's $3.85 billion spending proposal, the Senate Democrats $3.82 package and the House Republicans' $3.7 billion plan.

Cianfrani said the panel has not discussed what to do with $118 million in federal revenue sharing.

Shapp and the Democrats want to use the revenue sharing money for education for the mentally retarded, for an expanded county court reimbursement program and for various other services.

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) -Argentina's latest wave of kidnapings Tuesday claimed 10 reported victims in a 24-hour period, bringing to a total of 14 the number now in captivity, police said.

More than 70 persons have been kidnaped by leftists guerrillas or common criminals so far this year with ransoms paid estimated at more than $7 million.

Europeans have openly expressed fears that the Soviet Union and the United States are planning a benign overlordship of the rest of the world following summit talks between the two leaders last week.

French and Soviet foreign ministers Michel Jobert and Andrei A. Gromyko expressed optimism, in parallel talks, about the outcome of a European security conference scheduled to start July 3 in Helsinki.

In toasts during a lavish ninecourse lunch ranging from boiled lobster to champagne, both Brezhnev and Pompidou were optimistic about their talks.

After telling Brezhnev in Russian, "Good health," Pompidou said, "The results of our conversations up to now fully meet our expectations.

Brezhnev said: "The relations between nations are entering a new era. Up to now they have been dominated by the ideology of the cold war but now we have before us an entirely different picture.

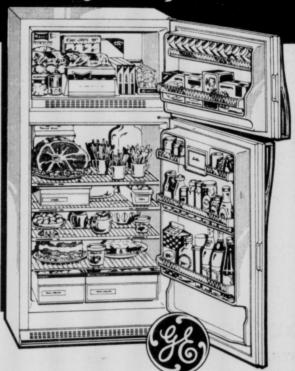

"We have relations which will allow us to liberate mankind from the threat of a nuclear holocaust.'

The warm remarks of the two leaders failed entirely to dispel differences between the countries on major policy issues.

French government officials said France still remains hostile to the Nixon-Brezhnev decision to open talks in Vienna on Oct. 30 on mutual reduction of forces in Europe.

Officials misspent funds

HARRISBURG - Pike County Commissioners misspent $382 in liquid fuels taxes during 1972, according to the state auditor general's report.

The money was used for viewer fees in connection with condemnation of land, an expenditure not permissible from the County Liquid Fuels Tax Fund.

The county receives the money from the state for repairs on county roads. Townships are given funds for repairs by township crews on request.

According to county treasurer Edward Delling, the money has already been refunded to the state. "It was paid in error," he said.

The auditor general's office also recommended that the county invest funds not immediately expended in interest-bearing ventures.

Commissioners maintained an average balance in their liquid fuels checking account of $23,441.21. The auditor general reports that the fund would "have increased substantially" if the money had been in-

Commissioners, informed of the report by Delling, have not yet designed funds for investment. While the checking reorganization is designed to account must be maintained for daily expenditures, Delling estimated $10,000-$15,000 could be invested.

Mall trial sound move

The Stroudsburg Borough Council has approved a three-day experiment in modern living by its three-toone vote giving the nod to closing off Main Street from Fifth to Seventh Streets for three days worth of merchants' sales, Aug. 2-4.

Modern living? Yes, for the thrust in community planning for the last few years has been to close off those congested urban centers to automobile traffic, leaving open only truck delivery and emergency vehicle lanes, and to open the central shopping districts to pedestrian traffic only.

In two words, shoppers' malls. There has been a proposal to do just that in Stroudsburg for several years now, but nothing much has become of it. One of the reasons for that inaction has been the simple fact that no one really could gauge the impact of such a move. As we have said before, and as the merchants who argued for the special three-day trial told council, this can be an ideal opportunity to find out just what a shoppers' mall could do for the area — and to traffic.

If this notion is approached correctly, something could be learned. We'd suggest broad publicity to bring in as many people as possible, not only for the immediate benefit of profit, but to determine how a mall would accept a large crowd - and how a large crowd would accept a mall

With respect to the latter, we would also suggest placing simple, easy-to-fill-out questionnaires at handy locations for shoppers to indicate their reaction to the mall concept. Nothing too long, understand, nor too shoddy or with those tiny spaces no one can ever fit anything like the name of their town into. Just a direct "how do you like it", "how's the parking", "where are you from" type of thing.

A follow-up with merchants (some of whom aren't enamored of the idea) and with police, planners and officials concerned with the problems of downtown Stroudsburg would give a well-rounded picture of how a permanent mall such as that envisioned in the borough's master plan would fare.

The time is coming when, as Monroe County population grows, downtown Stroudsburg as it is now, won't be able to handle the volume of potential business. Malls outside the center already are in the planning stages in other parts of the county. If a Stroudsburg mall is the answer to the lethargy and decay that has gripped other business centers, now is the time to find out and take action. You know: Before it's too late.

Move on home rule

Very little has been heard of home rule lately. In fact, very little has been heard since home rule was approved and guidelines laid down for municipalities and county governments to adopt some form or other of a home rule charter

In essence, home rule is the acceptance of authority and responsibility for various governmental functions by local government now controlled by the state.

There are advantages and disadvantages to home rule. Depending upon the unit of government seeking a home rule charter, some functions may be undesirable to take on, while others may not.

In general, county governments would do well to take on responsibility for such functions as adapt themselves to a regional approach. Water supply, for example, or sewerage systems or solid waste disposal systems. Municipal governments, on the other hand, might want to retain local control over police and fire departments, street maintenance and repair. They would not particularly care to take on air and water pollution.

This is only scratching the surface, though. What else is involved has never been satisfactorily explained, mostly because few local governments have troubled themselves to study the concept in any detail.

Some work is being done in this area over in East Stroudsburg. At least there are some people thinking about it. Their next step is to form an ad hoc committee to do some groundwork and present their conclusions to the public. Then they will put together a proposal and, as the guidelines demand, put up a slate of candidates for the elective home rule committee.

This is a valid and important concept. We urge other municipalities and the Monroe and Pike County Commissioners take a similar course of action. The state has handed us a valuable tool for good, strong local government. We should take steps now to take advantage of the offer

Jailhouse lawyers

New plague in prisons

The "jailhouse lawyer," who professes his ability to draw up legal briefs and parole petitions for his fellow inmates, has become a curse. A curse to the wardens? No, mostly to the prisoners. Recently I encountered some interesting observations on the jailhouse lawyer in a new book by Fred T. Wilkinson and Fred of the utopian notion that a model prison could DeArmond, "The Realities of Crime and Punishment: A Prison Administrator's Testament" (Mycroft Press, Springfield, Missouri). Mr. Wilkinson formerly was director of Missouri's Department of Corrections.

The jailhouse lawyer was guaranteed status a few years ago in a decision of the U.S. Supreme Court — the case of Johnson vs. Avery. A Tennessee prisoner named Johnson torney within the prison; the warden would not let him do so; Johnson appealed to the federal courts, and won this "civil right." Isn't that a gain for poor imprisoned men who know little about the law except its wrong side?

Lawyer-racketeer

No, it isn't, Wilkinson tells us. For the typical "jailhouse lawyer" is a racketeer, a blackmailer of other prisoners. "Gangs of inmates and their muscle men single out weaker prisoners and tell them they have just been assigned a jailhouse lawyer," Wilinson even a jailhouse lawyer.

In general, Fred Wilkinson takes a dim view be administered mostly by the inmates themselves. Of course there are some highly clever and reasonably efficient prisoners; but any measure of self-government falls at once into the hands of prison racketeers, who use power to mistreat their fellows, or to extort

But there is a more practical and faster Transportation against the perils facing solution. It's a solution proposed by Pike County Commissioner and former Secretary of Revenue Warner Depuy. Depuy some time ago, in a letter to The Pocono Record, suggested urging the state to speed up completion of all sections of Interstate Route 84 to Scranton. Depuy's suggestion is sensible, feasible and a quick solution to a serious problem. If Interstate 84 is complete, it would provide truck drivers now using Route 209 a faster link with the New England states.

But how can we convince PennDOT to speed up completion of Interstate 84?

at some time in the distant future the state New York State residents have a solution could expand the highway into a four-lane for their own Route 209 problems and we suggest we follow suit.

New Yorkers have reactivated their Tri-County Route 209 Assn. Included in the association are 50 municipal leaders and businessmen from both ends of their particular section of Route 209 (Port Jervis to Kingston). The group said it reactivated to "join hands in a common misery.

We suggest Monroe and Pike Counties join hands in their common misery and form an organization which could effectively lobby with PennDOT to speed completion of Route 209.

If municipalities along the highway in both counties join the group in addition to businessmen and other taxpayers, it would certainly create a strong body with a coordinated voice loud enough for PennDOT to

We already have Pocono Citizens Against up to the new Route 209 location in chunks, Noise, a group which was strong enough to move our state legislators and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. into action, in addition to gaining the active support of Monroe County Commissioners.

Drug report gutted has rebelled against its chairman and gutted a report intended to protect children from harmful drug ads on TV.

Crusading old Chairman Claude Pepper, D-Fla., proposed last November that all ads peddling pills and tonics be banned from the airwaves from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. The ban would have covered painkillers, sleeping pills, sedatives, cold tablets, antacids, laxatives, reducing pills and other nostrums.

A secret draft committee report explained that the ads were giving toddlers a "pillpopping" mentality, paving the way for future drug addiction.

After we disclosed the Pepper plan, promises of support came to him from Americans all over the country. But it outraged the broadcasters who saw it in terms of a $261 million annual advertising loss. They moved quietly to kill the proposal.

Radio-TV pressure

Along with the pharmaceutical crowd, the radio-TV industry sicced its toughest persuaders on the committee. Some members, like Rep. William Keating, R-Ohio, with drug firms in his area, succumbed easily and maneuvered in the privacy of committee meetings to gut the Pepper plan.

There were a few like Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., who put his drug-ridden Harlem

WASHINGTON - Cowed by broadcasters district ahead of network good will and though, he adds, is the dreary obscenity that Homosexuals within a prison arrange ren- and drug makers, the House Crime Committee pharmaceutical campaign contributions. He battled for the Pepper measure.

Although broadcast officials made a personal pilgrimage from Rangel's home base of New York City to pressure him, he stood them off. "They went into an absolute panic," he recalled.

Rebuffed by Rangel, the broadcasters then enlisted prominent fellow blacks to put the heat on him. "They were stupid enough to think that just because I looked like them, I would go along with them," Rangel told my associate Les Whitten.

Majority yeilds But over the months, the majority of the members yielded. One powerful paragraph after another in the original draft has now been knocked out. From former committee sources, we have obtained a copy of the original document and can quote some of the phrases killed behind closed doors.

"There are more people in this country addicted to drugs manufactured by pharmaceuticl companies than there are addicted to drugs smuggled into this country by racketeers," reports one deleted section.

Overproduction of addictive barbiturates and amphetamines is due solely to "unscrupulous action" by the drug firms. "Immediate restrictions" should be put on production of these prescription drugs as a companion step to banning children's hours ads on nonprescription drugs, says another suppressed

"Our pharmaceutical companies are not only proliferating this country with pills but they are also contaminating our airways with unnecessary and deleterious advertising. . . It conditions (children) to the unnecessary use of drugs," declares still another blue-lined phrase.

"These commericals are designed. . . to induce people to take drugs indiscriminately." and thus are "harmful to the nation's health and safety," says a paragraph that must have made the TV and drug moguls howl. Adults are "insidiously indoctrinated," by the pill and tonic ads, says the censored report, therefore "children and impressionable teenagers" are even more vulnerable

Footnote: The gutted report is scheduled for release shortly. Even the handful of committee members who fought vainly for the tough, original version may have to sign the weakened document in order to get anything at all released by their compromised colleagues.

We apologize: We recently reported that the appointment of Danial Horowitz as Consul General in Naples was made to please AFL-CIO President George Meany. The appointment, we reported, sparked a letter of protest from some State Department employes to Congressman John Rooney, D-N.Y. They complained the appointment was solely a political move. We also reported, in error, that Horowitz was an inexperienced diplomat Horowitz is qualified, and we regret the error.

Audience, cast meet at post-Mame buffet

BUCK HILL - A champagne the role of Mame's hardbuffet supper at The Inn at Buck Hill Falls followed the opening of the 27th season at the Pocono Playhouse on Monday night when Mrs. Rowena Stevens entertained the cast

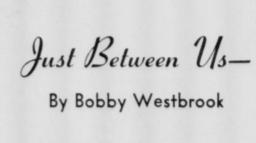

It gave Mrs. Stevens a chance to introduce members of the cast and the production ously with the opening of the staff which had collaborated on the highly successful opening in the musical "Mame" and to thank the audience for her reduction from 246 pounds their patience in remaining to her present Juno-osque 140, through a 40-minute delay in the performance caused by an outside power failure.

Introduced were Jack Timmers, director; Jack Craig who choreographed the dances, ranging from those popular during the period from 1928 to 1946; and Robert Anton, who designed the imaginative settings which slipped smoothly through a total of 16 scenes.

Also getting a big hand was wardrobe supervisors, Joan D'Hert, for her work on the multiple changes for Mame

Anne Russell who played the title role also voiced her appreciation to the audience for their warm reception.

Sandy Sprung who played

Where were you when the lights went out in Mountainhome? I was sitting at the opening performance of Mame at the Playhouse when darkness descended. After a startled silence, a voice came put of the darkness, explaining that it was an outside power failure not internal.

"Thank goodness," came the voice of Mame - "For a minute I thought I was playing Lady Mac Beth". The auxiliary system came on for the exit lights, which were sort of

The cast was willing to proceed but they couldn't move the sets by hand and besides, with the air-conditioning off, the hall started hotting up, so they called an early intermission - and 40 minutes later they play resumed, quickly recapturing its audience.

Except for my special problem: With the review deadline at hand and the first act hardly over, I had to abandon my hopes of a crisp incisive review on a typewriter for a stumbling telephone call of first impressions and a projection of the part yet to come.

My apologies to the firstnight audience whose behavior As it turned out, the imlights went out.

Yacht Club dance opens new season

TAFTON - The Commodore's Dance at the Lake Wallenpaupack Yacht Club, Tafton, last Saturday night was well attended. Hosts for this, the first dance of the summer season, were Commodore and Mrs. Charles Traverse of Waynewood Lake, Vice-Commodore and Mrs. John Larson of Mountainhome, and Rear Commodore and Mrs. Charles Fessler of Easton.

The most important event of this week for the women of the Yacht Club is the White Elephant Sale to be held on Saturday, June 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Paupack Elementary School on Route 507, the profits from which will be donated to the Wallenpaupack Area Medical Fund.

Mrs. Harvey Mason of Paupack, chairman, is busy this week pricing the large collection of items which have been donated, assisted by Mrs. Earl Sieling of Tafton and Mrs. Sheldon Evans of Paupack.

Mrs. Mason has announced that anyone who has last minute items to contribute or consign may bring them to the school on June 30 between 8 and 10 a.m. Slogan for the sale is "Come - and bring your own trunk!"

On Saturday, June 30, the club will hold a family night party, with activities and refreshments appropriate for the celebration of Independence Day. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lengel are hosts for the occasion, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Traverse, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Greenwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Knepley. The Women's Association of the Yacht Club will meet on Wednesday, June 27, for a dessert bridge at the home of Mrs. Ruhl Heffner at

Bowers - Craver wed

SMETHPORT - Miss Candace Dee Craver and James Richard Bowers were married on Saturday, June 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the United Methodist Church, Smethport.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Craver of West Main St., Smethport. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lester J. Bowers, 755 Bryant St., Stroudsburg.

Rev. Richard Shields officiated at the double ring ceremony with Mrs. Henry Reap as organist and Mrs. Richard Danielson as soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white crepe maricaine. The gathered bodice featured an open V neckline accented with crystal pleating and beaded Venise lace with an empire waist and long sleeves ending in a ruffle of pleating and lace. The Apline skirt featured a chapel length train. A camelot headpiece with beaded lace held a multitier elbow length veil of tulle and detachable chapel-length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, white stephanotis, babies breath and ivy.

Miss Cindy Brennan of Morrisville, sorority sister in Kappa Kappa Gamma was the bride's maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow maricaine with halter type bodice and full bishop sleeves of chiffon gathered at the wrist and a wide satin sash. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and yellow roses, babies breath and ivy.

The bridesmaids, Miss Anne Wrona of Hershey, and Miss Mary Vossler, Smethport, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Bowers, sister of the bridegroom, of Stroudsburg, wore the same style gowns in lime green and carried a colonial bouquet of white and yellow roses.

Susan Nelson of Smethport was flower girl and wore a floor-length gown of yellow maricaine with short gathered sleeves with lace and ribbon trim. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and

PITTSTON, Pa. (UPI) - Adisagreement over a patrolman's change in schedule from day to night shift apparently triggered the serious wounding Monday of Police Chief Joseph Patrolman Robert Fath, 43, allegedly shot Delaney three times in the abdomen and upper arm after walking into City Hall and firing seven shots from his .45-caliber pistol.

"From what we've determined, he was dissatisfied with his hours," a state police spokesman said Tuesday as Delaney, 54, was being transferred in serious condition from Pittston Hospital to the Veterans Hospital in Wilkes-Barre for possible surgery.

Fath had reportedly been reassigned recently from day to Fath, a three-year veteran of the force and a former Marine, was charged with aggravated assault and battery and released on $25,000 bond.

Violence on TV drops slightly

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) -The average television viewer saw violence depicted in eight of every 10 programs and nine of 10 cartoons he watched last year, according to the dean of the University of Pennsylvania's communications school.

Dr. George Gerbner, dean of the Annenberg School, in a report released Tuesday, said the level of televised violence in 1972 was slightly below the 1971

Gerbner, assisted by assistant communications professor Dr. Larry P. Gross, measures the overall level of TV mayhem on a "violence index," based on the percentage of shows containing violence, the number of violent episodes per show and the percentage of leading characters involved in violence.

The slight decrease in the 1972 index, according to the researchers, resulted from a drop in the percentage of leading characters involved in violence from 73 to 58 per cent. Since the yearly studies were begun in 1967, the percentage of programs containing violence and number of violent episodes per program have remained constant.

Kelley appeared before the committee during three days of hearings over a two-week period, extensively answering senators' questions on the need for a congressional oversight committee to consult on FBI activities, job tenure and divorcing the FBI from Justice Department control.

The only opposition to his nomination came from Bruce R. Watkins, a Kansas City civil rights leader, who alleged Kelley was an "unyielding law and order man." He said Kelley had instituted a spy system to harass members of organizations whose political ideals differed from those of the chief and his police department.

Barely seven hours later, the ministers were back at workthis time on proposals for a free trade area with the Mediterranean nations. The United States has charged such an area could undercut America's markets in the Mediterranean region.

Both the free trade area and the bargaining position made it clear the nine-nation Common Market is in a mood to challenge U.S. interests and wishes in world trade.

American diplomats said they feared this would only make it tougher for President Nixon to get his controversial trade bill his own mandate for the in the reform of the world mon-"Nixon round" -through a suspicious Congress.

The "Nixon round" will open at the ministerial level in Tokyo in September. The actual work will begin when experts meet in Geneva in the New Year, and the mandate agreed by the market ministers after their 20-hour non-stop session did little more than set the atmosphere for Tokyo. More detailed bargaining points will be produced during the two

WASHINGTON (UPI) - An estimated 13,000 kidney patients will be eligible for Medicare payments beginning Sunday under the first extension of the health insurance program to persons under age 65, the government said Tuesday.

The Health, Education and Welfare Department issued regulations covering benefits to the newly eligible kidney patients at an estimated firstyear cost of $250 million. HEW said 13,000 patients will be eligible by the end of this year and 8,000 to 10,000 annually thereafter.

The order also freezes the number of eligible facilities at the current level of about 750 which provide artificial kidney services and about 235 which perform kidney transplants.

HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said that virtually all persons under 65 with chronic kidney disease would become eligible for Medicare,

Purchase of bonds on rise

PHILADELPHIA - Pennsylvanians purchased $52,342 million worth of United States Savings Bonds, Series E and H, in April, according to Charles S. Krumrine, state chairman of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Division.

Cumulative purchases have reached $226.625 million or 36 per cent of Pennsylvania's state quota for 1973.

In Monroe County, sales were $228,591 for April and $974,913 for the January-April period, according to Robert F. Davenport, county chairman.

Nationwide, sales of U.S. Savings Bonds, Series E, totaled $535 million in April, a 28-year peak for the month, and 12 per cent above April of last year.

H Bond sales were $27 million, a six-year peak for the month. Combined sales of E and H Bonds amounted to $562 million, the highest total for the month since the H Bond was introduced in June of 1952

Exchange of Series E Bonds and Freedom Shares for Series H Bonds totaled $30 million in April, 13 per cent above a year

For the 31st consecutive month, sales exceeded redemptions.

Across the country, record sales of Series E and H Bonds amounting to $2,313 million were reported.

Alleged raw sewage which is on the Coolbaugh Twp. property.

DER investigates dumping of sewage in Coolbaugh

By RUTH VINCE Pocono Record Reporter

TOBYHANNA — An investigation by the state Department of Environmental Resources (DER) into the alleged dumping of raw sewage into Coolbaugh Township is underway.

Barry Nauman of Woodland Road, Mount Pocono, who operates a cesspool and septic tank cleaning business, and Perry Fulmer, an employe of Nauman's, were stopped Tuesday by Coolbaugh Township Police Chief Joseph Garrity when they were allegedly ready to dump sewage on property located off Rte. 196 in Coolbaugh.

Nauman told Garrity he was contracted by Mount Airy Lodge to haul its sewage away from the resort. He also stated Herman Martens, owner of Mount Airy, told him where to dump it.

The sewage has been dumped in a field owned by Mount Airy, according to Nauman. The property in question was purchased in 1968 by the lodge from Mrs. Clarence Simpson of Tobyhanna.

Police said Nauman's trucks have been observed by Ambrose Vince, a property owner and resident of Coolbaugh who lives along Rte. 196 about a quarter of a mile from the site.

Tuesday, Nauman was followed to the area and township police were notified.

Garrity and township supervisor Lloyd Knecht went to the site and saw Nauman bringing his truckload of sewage into the area, allegedly ready to dump it.

According to police, Fulmer was already on the site with a truckload of sewage when Nauman arrived. Nauman told Garrity it was Mount Airy property and he guessed they could do what they wanted. Asked why he was dumping there, Nauman said,

"Herman Martens told me to do it and I only work for the Nauman also said it was the first time he had dumped there. Fulmer said the same thing, but according to Vince, he has seen the truck going up Rte. 196 for a couple

Evidence found on the site indicated sewage has been dumped there over a long period of time. Dried sewage can be seen over an extensive area of the field as well as evidence of recent dumping, according to police.

When Nauman was told his truck had been observed many times in the area, he remarked, "I'm only visiting

From 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, the two trucks had already made two trips to the site when township police arrived, according to Vince.

Garrity contacted DER officials who will send a representative to the site today to inspect the area and begin an investigation.

By GARY GROSSMAN

Pocono Record Reporter SWIFTWATER — Tactics for the negotiating table were outlined Tuesday for county commissioners from across Pennsylvania attending their state association's annual convention at Mt. Airy this Keynoting a workshop on collective bargaining, speaker Dr. Jerry Lee Hart, a management consultant, told the Pike Commissioner James county officials how to act when faced with unionizing public employes.

Many of the commissioners attending the convention have experienced union activity among the ranks of their employes. Those who haven't were cautioned to expect to face union negotiators and prepare for it.

Co-speaker Edgar McFarstate "programs to control ren, experienced in labor relations, told the delegates. Unions are better prepared than the public employer.

"And you can expect they'll be at your door. The train's coming down the track.'

Monroe County employes at Pleasant Valley Manor are now working under their first union contract this year.

They spent almost a year organizing into a local unit of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME) in 1972.

Two laws in Pennsylvania -Act 111 and Act 195 - protect public employes' right to organize. Act 111 deals with uniform employes and policemen and firemen are county employes in only

Act 195, passed in 1970, is by far the more widely felt piece of legislation, covering everything from "teachers to garbage men"

Hart told the delegates to place the burden of change on the party asking for a contract.

'You are the establishment," he said. "In the words of my friends in Harlem and Watts, you are 'the man'. "Expect whomever brings the issues to you to present, defend and prove their case. Make them do their

OTTAWAY NEWS SERVICE Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG - A Pocono lawmaker criticised the Shapp administration for dropping the ball in the fight against gypsy moths but said he hopes the government will "begin to give" the menance a priority.

'In our corner of the state, we are now in a losing battle against the gypsy moth,' Rep. William Foster, R-Wayne, said in a floor speech Tuesday. "Action must be taken immediately if we are to save our state forests and private forest land.

Foster was one of a number of Pocono Legislators who last week pressured the administration into getting a laboratory to breed parasites to eat the gypsy moths. Environmental officials see the parasites as the only realistic way to control the pest.

tions aimed at students. A number of the proposed changes would simply remove the word student from an ordinance provision and replaced it with "group."

Only one resident, A.A. Albert of 109 Ransberry Ave., protested the change, saying if he were buying property he would want to know if his neighbors were "student" residents or "group"

A related change concerning conversion of dwellings from one-family to two or multifamily units provides that no more than two units in a converted dwelling can be inhabited by group residents. Under new provisions, such converted dwellings would need a buffer zone of not less than five feet between parking facilities and adjoining property. Driveways, not considered parking spaces, would have to be three feet from contiguous property. The re-zoning of Washington Street would affect only the southern portion, already a chiefly commercial section.

The new zone, to be marked either by the north end of the armory or Hallet Street, would be changed from R-1 and C-1A to a C-3 zone. Bruce Flory, owner of the proposed change would

"bring business expansion, maybe new businesses into the area and increase the tax revenue of the borough.' He also contended a zoning change would "increase the value of property sold in the area if it could be sold as commercial.'

(UPI) — The one good thing about losing is that it helps you

That's the gospel of Chris Evert, the Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., two-handed baseline expert and fourth seed in the women's singles of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Not that the 18-year-old American No. 3 player always practices what she preaches. A rangy Uruguay girl named Fiorella Bonicelli can testify to Miss Evert polished off Miss Bonicelli 6-3, 6-3 in her first match of the tournament Tuesday, and then said she was in better mental condition than ever to do well here because she dropped a few matches during the season.

Last year at her Wimbledon debut, Miss Evert lost to Evonne Goolagong after leading 6-4, 3-0 in the semifinals. Part of that defeat, she said, was due to pressure on her in WIMBLEDON, England newspapers and on televison and nerves, resulting from her first appearance on the hallowed courts she had heard so much about.

"Now that I've lost a few this year," she said, "I'm feeling pretty loose.

Miss Evert said her new attitude was: "If I win-great. If I lose—I go on to the next tournament.

From that stance she refused to predict how she will do at the championships.

Saylorsburg cops 5-4 win

Saylorsburg scored runs in four of the first five innings and held off a late Kunkletown rally to earn a 5-4 victory Tuesday in a West End Senior Little League con-

"The field is tougher this year than last year," she said. "Margaret Court is playing. Any seed could win. If I concentrate I could do well. As for winning...well, there's Billie Jean, Margaret and so on."

Miss Bonicelli's flat forehand spin bothered Miss Evert and she agreed that she had not played as well as might have been expected. "But I play better the more I play," she said. "And all year I've practiced for this.'

She said she was working on her service, on her volley and on coming into the net. "I mean coming in myself, not being forced in. The volley is definitely a weak part of my

Although she is a teenager, Miss Evert is aware of even younger competition such as Dianne Fromholtz of Australia.

"They're all good players," she said, looking not the least bit downhearted.

Mrs. King leads Wimbledon seeds

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) - Billie Jean King was all power and bustle on a day of lacklustre tennis Tuesday as she led the seeds with embarrassing ease through the second day of the 87th Wimbledon championships.

Mrs. King, the defending women's singles champion who is seeking her fifth title here, reached the last 32 with a crushing 6-0, 6-2 win against Italy's top-ranked Lucia Bassi on center court.

In the men's singles, second seed Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, third seed Roger Taylor of Britain and seventh seed Owen Davidson of Australia all reached the last 32 with routine straight-set victories over mediocre opposition.

The quality of the tennis did not affect the attendance, and for the second day in a row it passed 23,000 on a brilliantly sunny day.

Shavers, Quarry bout set

NEW YORK (UPI) - "I will definitely take him out," Earnie Shavers said.

Jerry Quarry squirmed in his chair and muttered quite unprintable expletives.

And so the stage was set Tuesday by the two heavyweights for their July 25th 12round war in Madison Square Garden.

The match can be a real good one. No one really knows if Shavers, the 27-year-old former AAU champion from Warren, Ohio, can fight. He got his first big exposure against Jimmy Ellis, but it lasted only as long as it took for one big punch to put Ellis out cold after 2:39 of the first round.

Quarry was supposed to be in the ring that night of June 18, but the 28-year-old, hot-tempered Irishman from California pulled out because of an attack of intestinal flu, leaving the door open for Ellis to get creamed.

Shavers' camp, led by garrulous manager Don King and the old mongoose, Archie Moore, have claimed loudly that Quarry was afraid and ran out on their man.

This charge does not sit well with Jerry, and when it came his turn to speak he was almost surly. "I will take care of big man real quick. Archie Moore there said I was yellow, so, Moore, I'm going to drop him right in your lap. You, big man," pointing at Shavers, "you're going to fall right on your big mouth.'

Glowering, Quarry returned to his seat, then grinned fleetingly at his manager, Gil Clancy.

For Shavers, this one can really make him -fistically and financially. In his careerstudded with 44 knockouts in 45 victories but marred by two decision losses to nobodies-Earnie had his biggest payday against Ellis, when he collected $12,000 to Ellis' $25,000. Now, just over a month later, he and Quarry will each be guaranteed $60,000 against 25 per cent of everything.

Whalers' coach resigns

BOSTON (UPI) - Jack Kelley, who led the New England Whalers to the first World Hockey Association championship last season, Tuesday resigned his coaching post to assume full-time duties as general manager of the club.

Ron Ryan, assistant general manager, assistant coach and director of player personnel for the Whalers, was named new head coach. Ryan will continue as assistant general manager. club President Howard L. Baldwin said.

Baldwin also announced that head scout Jack Ferreira will assume Ryan's positions as assistant coach and director of player personnel. The decision for Kelley to step down as coach was "my intention and the intention of Jack Kelley since the inception of the Whalers," said Baldwin. "In this day and age, it is vital to have a man who can devote all of his energies to the ever demanding position of general manager in the professional hockey explosion.

and Margaret Court were not in action today, and with more than 70 of the top men pros boycotting the $147,800 dollar championships, the standard of play suffered.

Mrs. King's rivals had it only slightly harder in their first round matches than the second seed's 35-minute win on center court. Third seed Evonne Goolagong of Australia, the 1971 champion, sidelined top-ranked Dutch girl Betty Stove 6-3, 6-3 and fourth seed Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., had the same score but a more erratic match in defeating Fiorella Bonicelli of Uruguay.

Virginia Wade, whose temperament has held her back in the past, fought off her center

The big guns of Ilie Nastase court nerves and ousted Australia's 16 - year - old Dianne Fromholtz, who came into the match with four titles in six weeks behind her. The sixth seeded Briton hung on for a 3-6, Rosie Casals of San Francisco, Calif., the fifth seed, routed South African Federation Cup player Brenda Kirk 6-0, 6-1 to complete an uneventful day. Taylor, one of three members of the Association of Tennis Professionals (ATP), to defy the boycott, reached the third round with a 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 win against West Germany's Harald Elschenbroich. Kodes strolled past Pietro Marzano of Italy 6-0, 6-4, 6-3 and Davidson ousted fellow Aussie Barry Phillips-Moore 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

In other first round women's singles, Marita Redondo, the 16year-old from National City, Calif., recovered to defeat West German Katya Ebbinghaus, one of the best looking girls in the tournament, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Linda Tuero the U.S. Wightman Cup captain from Metarie, La. looked set for a second round place but then collapsed to Nathalie Fuchs of France 1-6, 6-3, 6-2 when her game inexplicably went to pieces.

Three-time Wimbledon champion John Newcombe of Australia, one of the few boycotters to visit the club to watch play, predicted the tournament, once the world's greatest, could last only a couple of years without the big names.

"Wimbledon might be able to stand it for a year or two," said Newcombe, the fourth seed until he pulled out, "but not if it goes on.

Otherwise, it was again a day for the little known players to make the most of their chance of Wimbledon fame which may away from home in movable BUSHKILL - Camping used those comforts be made outdoor resorts. Recreational

According to Leonard replete with dirt, mosquitoes Becker, chairman of the campgrounds committee of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and owner of Timothy Lake Camp, Bushkill, no average American mother will take her family into the woods without electricity, water and sewer facilities. Furthermore, it's almost > impossible to keep her anyplace without a swimming pool and recreational ac-Catering to these campers ed Timothy Lake, there was 'nothing between Milford and Portland" in the way of campgrounds. Now there are 10 along that scattered through the Poconos. Most of these campgrounds are "destination" properties designed for the long-term camper. Seasonal campers are not at all uncommon. Only a few — the Kampers of America (KOA) campground in Delaware Water Gap is an example overnight camper.

Because of the clientel they form. And the American fami- wish to attract, campgrounds ly demands that provision for in the Poconos have become directors, more adept at square dancing than matchmaking, are staple on the > campground's staff. Swimming pools, camp stores, and playgrounds are all initial investments an owner must make.

Rates for these luxuries are well below hotel and motel charges - but not as dirt cheap as rolling out of your sleeping bag under the stars. And the cost of that "recreational vechicle" is probably equal to that of a new car or two.

The weekly rate at Timothy Lake for a camper plot - with a three-point (electricity, water and sewage) hook-up -In 1968, when Becker start- is $35. This is comparable to the rest of the Pocono area campgrounds - whose rates vary only by a few dollars one way or another.

The campground owner, for strip of Rte. 209 and 15 more the fees which he sees as minimal, must expend not only money, but year 'round effort and time.

Becker explained that many owners who start a campground are "dreamers" who often don't realize the problems of a camp area.

The installation of sewage facilities, Becker said, is the most difficult problem to are primarily for the solve. Only an engineer can tell a prospective campground owner if the land he wants to buy will be suitable for a large septic system, Becker stated. (Timothy Lake, for example, caters to 10-15,000 families annually.)

However, few prospective owners consult engineers.

Management of a campground's complex bookkeeping system is another sticking point for a would-be owner. "We sweated through three years not knowing the easy way to register guests and collect fees," Becker remarked

Frigates excite historians

KINGSTON, R.I. (UPI) -There is revolutionary war booty in Narragansett Bay and two marine scientists from the University of Rhode Island (URI) have begun a project to recover the priceless items.

The wreck sites of the British warships HMS Carberus and HMS Lark in the east passage of the bay have been added to the National Register of Historic Places.

The two frigates were sunk during the Battle of Rhode Island in 1778 after the French joined the colonies in their fight for independence.

Albert Davis, a URI diverresearcher, and John McAniff said the project would cost about $60,000 and they hope to attempt the recovery of artifacts from the two ships this summer. They said the work will be carried out with archeological supervision.

They said the two ships are typical of undisturbed, underwater wreck sites. The sites were placed in the National Register of Historic Places to protect the artifacts pending recovery operations and careful study of the findings. McAniff said the sites were found by his colleague after three years of research and two years of an underwater search. 'Davis conducted a long, tedious underwater search and finally came up with pay dirt," McAniff said. Ball st mounts, large sections of heavy oak planking, cannons, anchors, cannon balls, ship fittings, plates, coins and remnants of furniture are some of the artifacts expected to be found strewn about the bottom of the bay. Most items are buried in sediment.

The sites, separated from one another by several miles, give physical evidence of the destruction of the British fleet stationed at Newport during the Battle of Rhode Island.

The French fleet arrived in Rhode Island waters on July 8, 1778, and anchored off Broton's Point, successfully blockading the British fleet off Newport and setting the scene for Rhode Island's major conflict in the War of Independence.

As the French ships entered Narragansett Bay, the British began to scuttle their ships to prevent capture by the French.

We drove a new Datsun 1200 from L.A. to

New York, just to prove how economical the car really is. Without special equipment or special tuning, we averaged 37.9 miles per gallon. Just $29.85 coast to coast. That's economical.

It would cost nearly three times as much for the same trip! In fact, the Environmental Protection Agency of the U.S. Government has just released a mileage comparison of all cars sold in the U.S. Our Datsun 1200 delivered the best mileage of all.

We think that buying gasoline is one of the dullest things you can do with your money. Save real, countable dollars with a new Datsun 1200! Drive a Datsun...then decide.

Brand X rated

On my wedding day when my husband turned around and he had a sign on his back that read, BRAND X, I should have figured I was a loser.

You have seen my counterpart on television a thousand times. I'm the woman whose bleach is weak, whose floor wax yellows, who gets a handshake at the door instead of a kiss, and who stares down a stinking sink for three days waiting for my inferior brand to unclog it.

My whole life has been Brand X rated. My babies wore the diapers that were non-absorbant. My husband wore shirts with ring-aroundthe-collar. My kids were always on the side with 70 per cent more cavities. And my mother-in-law used to unroll the bathroom tissue before guests, count the perforated squares and say, "Dummy. You're getting three less sheets on this roll.

It seems I have always been intimidated by women who can balance a set of encyclopedia on their paper

The other day at the curb, just after my Brand X plastic garbage bag broke, spreading garbage all over the gutter. my friend Julie said to me, "You're a loser."

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) - A nitpicker you're not-and never want to be. It's disdainful. But what about taking up other pickin' things - apple pickin, strawberry pickin, corn pickin,' tomato pickin'?

During the past five years the idea of picking fruits and vegetables yourself has been sprouting as a summertime pursuit that is both pleasurable and easy on the family budget.

It works this way: you motor or bike to a farm that caters to do-it-yourselfers when a particular crop is ready. You harvest what you want, the farmer measures or weights it and charges you the wholesale price. That's about two-thirds what you'd pay a store.

But do you save money actually? It depends.

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, director of the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs, in her Consumer News bulletin, re-

"While pick-your-own fruits and vegetables cost less, you may not save money. Regardless of how you figure the cost of your time driving to and from a farm and your time in the fields you still bear the cost of operating the car. Also, there probably will be additional time costs in cleaning and preparing your purchase when you get home.

Mrs. Knauer overlooks, however, the practically cost-free way of joining the pick-yourown set. Biking to the farm.

The Agriculture Department's Extension Service points to another plus. That drive to the country is more than just a matter of budget and food on the table. The "pick-your-own strawberries or what" excursion can be a fun-filled inexpensive family outing.

Another plus: you're getting super-fresh produce.

There are two ways of learning about pick-your-own farms near you. The easiest way: look for ads in the newspaper. There also might be commercials on radio, so listen.

The second way, according to Mrs. Knauer, is to call the local office of the Agriculture Extension Service (AES). It's probably listed in the phone book under county government heading.

The AES agents will know about pick-your-own farms in your county and also ought to be able to tell you which crops are ready for picking. He'll be able to give you farm numbers and will know if you'll need to supply containers for your harvest.

Mrs. Knauer said once you get to the farm, bon't be bashful. Ask the farmer how to judge mature fruits and vegetables. Select only mature fruits or vegetables. If you pick the undeveloped ones, the families of pickers a week hence will find slim pickin's.

Maturity times vary because of seasonal differences nationwide. The following is Mrs. Knauer's general guide to fruits and vegetables usually availaboe at pick-you-own farms.

-July or later. Apple, beet, blueberry, brocolli, cabbage, cantaloupe, carrot, cauliflower, chard, cherry, corn, cucumber, eggplant, green bean, lettuces, lima bean, onion, pear, pepper, pumpkin, radish, raspberry, squash, tomato, zuchinni.

Overheating causes alarm

STROUDSBURG - Thirtyfive firemen from the Stroud Township Fire Co. responded to a fire at 11:30 a.m. Sunday at the Pocono Produce Co., 777 N. Fifth St.

Assistant Fire Chief John Cruse said the fire was caused by a motor overheating on a gas pump. Little damage reported.

A&P employe honored

W. Seese, Bushkill, was recently honored by officials of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., Inc. upon completion of 25 years service with the nation's leading food Seese was presented with a suitably engraved plaque signed by Robert Longacre, A&P President, and a cash award. Presentation was made by Thomas Crowley, Area Supervisor on behalf of F.G. Trenery, Scranton Division Vice-President.

Seese began his A&P career in June 1948 and is presently employed as Meat Department Head in the firm's market in Mt. Pocono.

Married to the former Pauline Repsher, Mr. and Mrs. Seese have three children: Wendy, attending the Middle Smithfield School; Melanie, who will be a freshman at Bloomsburg State College in the fall of 1973, and Randy, attending East Stroudsburg High School.

Seese, a member of The American Legion and The Bushkill Emergency Corps., is an accomplished five-string banjo player and his talents are eagerly sought by the local bands. In addition to enjoying hunting and fishing, George is a motorcycle buff.

Sale successful

NEW YORK - General Public Utilities Corporation has announced that preliminary results indicate that its subscription offering of 3,940,000 shares of its common stock to its stockholders was successful. The offering ended Friday, June 15.

William G. Kuhns, president, said that the approximately $72-million realized through the offering would be invested in GPU's subsidiaries for use in their construction programs or used to repay a portion of GPU's short-term notes incurred for that purpose.

Your money's worth

By SYLVIA PORTER

An impressive new array of Medicare benefits for millions of you will go into effect this Sunday, July 1. Among them: coverage for disabled Americans of any age, coverage for those suffering from severe chronic kidney disease, expanded physical therapy services, chiropractors' services.

The scope of Medicare is becoming enormous by any yardsticks you can reasonably apply. This year alone, 23 million older Americans will be getting between $8 and $9 billion in Medicare insurance benefits. Some 22.5 million now participate in Medicare's voluntary Part B insurance which covers doctor bills all but a tiny fraction of the elderly. Since the program began in mid-1066, the average hospital bill paid by Medicare has soared from about $500 to more than $860.

But the real-life story of the burden of medical care costs on our elderly citizens is far from what it seems on the surface. For the brutal fact is that the amount of money today's average elderly citzien must pay in direct, out-of-pocket costs for medical care actually is MORE than in fiscal '66 — the year before Medicare went into effect.

Costs up

In the most recent fiscal year - 1972 which ended last June 30-such costs averaged $404 or $95 MORE than in 1966. To document this shocking disclosure, here are the costs you, the Medicare beneficiary

> (or your parent or relative or friend who is a beneficiary), must pay under today's law: The first $72 for your hospital bill for each "benefit period" - which starts when going backward? This is nearly double the $40 deductible a Medicare patient paid at Medicare's beginning in 1966. - $18 a day in "coinsurance" for each day you have to stay in a hospital from your 61st day through the 90th day you are in the hospital. If you are unfortunate enough to require a long hospital stay, your total bill for this item alone will be $540 — an amount which could wipe out the total savings citizens. - The first $36 a day in costs of each day you use of your additional 60-day "lifetime reserve" of hospital coverage (100 days if it's a psychiatric hospital). That works out to a total of $2,160 for the whole 60-day reserve.

cushion of millions of elderly

More than checks

- $9 a day after the first 20 days you spend in a skilled nursing facility or extended care facility up to a total of 100 days covered by Medicare in such a facility. This adds up to $270 a month-or about $100 more than the average 1973 Social Security benefit check now being paid to an individual beneficiary. Any charges by physicians, surgeons and others above the amounts considered by the carriers handling medical insurance claims for the Social Security Administration (e.g., Blue Cross) to be "reasonable and necessary" to diagnose and treat your illness or injury.

- The costs of the first three pints of blood you may need during each "benefit period." This can be a considerable expense.

items for which you sign up in the hospital, such as telephone, radio, TV.

Part B Medicare insurance, covering doctor bills. This is more than double the $3 a month premium charged eight years ago.

Off the top

- The first $60 of your doctor bills (or other expenses covered by Part B) except lab and radiology services each year. Then 20 per cent of your remaining medical bills after you have paid this $60 deductible and any charges above those deemed "reasonable."

each year charged by psychiatrists for treatment of mental illness. Costs of physical therapy services at your home or the therapist's office over $100 a year (as of July 1).

-Any amount above $250

Then there are the "hidden costs." For instance, before a Medicare beneficiary can be admitted to a nursing home or extended care facility, he or she must spend at least three days in a hospital - a rule which puts doctors under tremendous pressure to route nursing home-bound patients through a hospital so their nursing home bills wil be paid by Medicare. And it also means, in many cases, an automatic $72 bill for the patient (the current hospital deductible for each "benefit period" or spell of illness).

As you can see, even for our elderly, a system of inexpensive national health care is not yet reality.

mad that I told her I hated Well, after I broke up with her I found out that I still liked her, and also that the story about the other boy was.

just a rumor By that time she was going out with another boy. She still is, but I think they are going to break up. I want to go back with her but everybody thinks I hate her, and they would tell her I am using her.

She is very popular. What should I do?

Sorry in Alabama (A.) Tell her the truth. Go to her and tell her yourself. Do not send a messenger. After you have told her the truth about getting mad with no basis and the other talk with you. mistakes you made, ask her to forgive you and take you back.

After this, find out the to say something unkind to away.

DIVORCE: (Q.) My mother and father are getting a divorce. I have to live with her. That is all right, but we have a lot of fights. About three or four little fights and one BIG fight every week. I love her, but sometimes I don't like her. I am afraid I will run away. Please help me.

A Boy in Texas,

(A.) Think of this. Your mother needs help as much or more than you do. You can help her. You can listen to her, and you can understand that it isn't you, but other problems, that make her hard to live with at times.

Talk to her as well as listen. Tell her about little things that happen to you during the day. There will be times when she will be lonely and want to

The more you two can talk, quietly and calmly, the less you are likely to fight. The truth about rumors before more you can really talk to you take action on them. And her and really listen to her. ask yourself, when you want the less you will want to run

Wishing@Well,

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked

Your Horoscope Frances Drake March 21 to April 20 (Aries)

Be cautious now — ready for an unexpected barrier, a sharp curve, one way or another. Thus you can prevent errors, keep to your path in spite of little stellar backing.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus Consider new methods and techniques, but don't overreach your capacities. Neither be overanxious. Impress others with your poise and ggo judgment.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini - Influences indicate the possibility of some deception in your area. Be alert and ready to counteract with firmness. Above all, avoid those who have deceived you before. June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) better to stick to routine matters. Perhaps, too, to take a little time to make some long-range plans. July 24 to August 23 (Leo) -You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Favorable stellar ahead with long-range plans.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — A slow start likely, with increasing momentum as the day progresses, so don't let down in effort. Establish a solid foundation; gains can be October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) - Better-thanaverage influences, but do not rest on your laurels. The past is past; now you must build for the future. A good day for amking important decisions.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Stellar superiors or strangers.

Not much planetary help here. In general, it would be favored now: educational pursuits, travel, research. Achievement is possible in out-of-the-ordinary ways and places. January 21 to February 19

Be ready to face competition. (Aquarius) — Descretion and the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead. Easy or financial objective. Let past experience guide you. February 20 to March 20

Pass Opening lead - king of

There is a permanence rubber bridge, where the outcome is often quickly forgot-enormous. At the first table, the bid-equivalent to a takeout double, except that it indicated unusually great length in the minor suits.

The rest of the bidding was natural, North finally bidding seven clubs as a sacrifice against the slam East-West seemed destined to make. East's double was rather poor the least he could have done was pass and let partner make the final decision.

The double proved to be exceptionally expensive when West compounded the felony by leading the king of spades instead of the ace of hearts. Declarer ruffed in dummy, drew trumps, and easily made the rest of the tricks to notch up a resounding 1,630 points.

At the second table, East-West got to six spades doubled and made the contract with an overtrick to add another 1,860 points to their teammates' score, thus gaining 3,490 points on one deal! The hand once again illustrates the principle that in high-level contracts

where the outcome is uncertain — a player should tend to bid one extra for luck in order to stop a major disaster from taking place. East-West at the first table and North-South at the second table could both profitably have applied the principle by bidding one more time. In any case, their failure to act more prudently is something they will not easily forget.
